

BOTANY

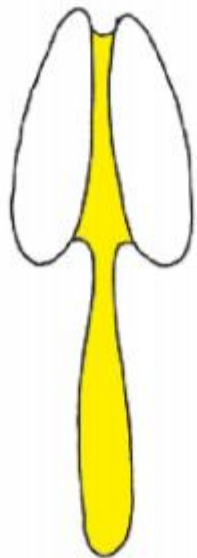

PARTS OF THE STAMEN

The stamen is the male part of the flower. It produces the pollen.

Latin: stamen – thread

The filament is the stalk to which the anther is attached.

Latin: filium – thread

The stamen is the male part of the flower. It produces the pollen.

Latin: stamen – thread

The pollen is a fine yellow dust, each grain consisting of a single cell.

Latin:

pollen, pollinis – fine
flower